One of the best things about Pasquaney is that it is a loving community in which we are all dedicated to helping one another grow to be our happiest and best. At one time or another, there will be things that bother us all: Maybe we’re not making the progress we wanted this summer; maybe it is fears about new schools; or fear that we won’t make it on the Long Walk – any number of things. I hope we will begin to develop the ability to tell our friends about our concerns and ask for help. When we are hurting inside, it is dumb to tough it out alone. The smart thing – which takes guts – is to tell somebody about it and ask for help.
